The Evening World Prints Associated Press News.

Congress next week.

The Monetary Conference is conducted in stage whispers.

Make a merry Christmas for the children of the very poor.

It is the forger who continually steals another man's good name.

The next Cabinet resignation seems likely to be a Spanish accent.

Is there no way to muzzle the principals in the Deacon concatenations of scandals?

Wall street rumor has done a good deal with JAY GOULD. What would it do without him?

The vanishing bank-notes act is being performed with startling realism on some big express money packages.

Now it is a Secretary of Public Health that somebody proposes for the Cabinet. There are plenty of officials already to feel the public pulse.

Somebody saw a moon rainbow last night. Such a phenomenon is worth looking at, but what could chasing it do without him?

The vanishing bank-notes act is being performed with startling realism on some big express money packages.

Now it is a Secretary of Public Health that somebody proposes for the Cabinet. There are plenty of officials already to feel the public pulse.

Murderer HALLINGER, in Jersey City, is at last losing hope. Some of the people who like to see prompt justice done to a confessed criminal of his type began to lose their hope long ago.

Rural Long Island appears to have had quite a blizzard all to itself, telling nobody of it till to-day. But it didn't by any means originate the act of having a little racket and saying nothing.

Ten tons of comet material appears to have struck Colorado in a lump. Quite a solid piece. But his cometship has got to do much better if he wants to give Mother Earth even as much as a black eye.

Superintendent SMITH says the Jersey City police force does not do its duty. It is difficult to imagine a more serious charge against such a body. (The Superintendent's suggestion of a shake-up might be well taken.)

As a rule Elevated Railway passengers can find annoyances enough after entering the cars. The police do more than well to arrest those parties who begin the annoyance before the intending passengers have reached a train.

STREET CLEANING.

COMMISSIONER BRENNAN replies to the allegations made by Prof. CHANDLER, in his letter to Mayor GRANT, pointing out defects in the execution of the New Street-Cleaning law. The Commissioner does not deny that street sweepings are left for hours in the gutters, that covered carts are not used in the removal of rubbish and ashes; that the block system of hand sweeping has not been established and that carts are still stored in the street. But he explains that rough weather has prevented the sweeps from going to sea; that old contracts made with the owners of open carts have not yet expired; that the block system is delayed for the lack of men to "go around," and that carts continue to be stored in the streets because the city has no yard to put them in. The condition of the streets has been certainly improved under Mr. BRENNAN, and the people are disposed to give him every opportunity to perfect his work. But, considering the very large amount of money and the great power at his command, his replies to Prof. CHANDLER's very proper criticisms are not altogether satisfactory. Refuse might surely be removed to the dumping grounds, even if the sweeps are weather-bound, and not left to rot in the gutters. Covered carts, so necessary to clean streets, ought to be used, despite contracts. With an unlimited amount of money and armies of unemployed in the city, enough men ought to be secured to carry out the block system promptly. The city might have secured a storage-yard for carts long ago.

THE PEOPLE ARE LIBERAL AND INDULGENT TO COMMISSIONER BRENNAN, BUT HE MUST CARRY OUT THE LAW AND KEEP THE STREETS CLEAN IN EARNEST.

MISTAKEN CLEMENCY.

An attempt is being made to secure the release from prison of the persons convicted of frauds on the ballot-box in New Jersey. The pardon of these men when their terms of imprisonment have just commenced would make justice a farce. The crime for which they are undergoing punishment is a most serious and unfortunately a very common one. It would be encouraged and increased if a conviction, always difficult to secure, should be nullified by a pardon.

We have had too many cases of leniency recently towards men, whose position, means and intelligence make their criminal acts the more heinous. The President has just released a bank robber whose crime impoverished hundreds of people, on the pretense that his health is not good. Gov. FLOWEN has since turned loose a similar rascal from Sing Sing. A convict who is undergoing imprisonment for stealing to support a starving family would fail to obtain a pardon from President or Governor if he were dying in jail. Indeed, no person would take the trouble to ask his release.

HELPING THE CORPORATIONS.

The Park Board yesterday voted in favor of the New York Central Railroad's resolution to keep the draws of the Harlem River bridges at Madison and Third avenues closed at all times except between 6 and 10 o'clock in the forenoon and 4 and 7 o'clock in the afternoon. This resolution is solely in the interest of the Vanderbilt corporation, of which the present Park Board seems to be the willing agent.

It is very questionable whether the Park Commissioners have any authority to thus interfere with the navigation of a river. If they can keep the draws of the bridges closed for seventeen hours out of the twenty-four, they can refuse to allow them to be opened at all, and thus wholly destroy navigation. Where do they get such authority? It is probable that the courts will be appealed to by the interests injured by the closing, and that the War Department may be heard from on the subject.

The Vanderbilt corporation has long been seeking to destroy the river for the benefit of its railroad tracks, at the cost of millions to the city, and the Park Commission has done its utmost to help forward the iniquitous scheme.

IS THE LID REALLY OFF?

There is an opening at Webb City, Mo., for Col. IRELAND, Dr. BARON and other coublers of the existence of sleek. Zoumiers there have pulled the lid off a subterranean fire, and the impression prevails that the gateway of the City of Dis has been discovered, sure, this time. The heat that comes out of the hole is terrific, and Webb City folks would not be surprised to see a lot of fire-breathing demons troop out of the flaming aperture at any moment.

Perhaps immigration is brisk into the land of the confederacy hereafter, and Beelzebub has opened up a new and direct route to the glowing quarter sections of his kingdom. If this is so, the Webb City gate may be a popular one for people going to the Devil, and who knows but that a close watch on the hole may result in making us certain about the eternal location of some folks who otherwise would be credited with having climbed the golden stairs.

If that pyro-pierced hole is really a perforation of the wall of Hades, it will shed light on a subject that has been in controversy for many ages. Then Col. IRELAND, can arrive his soul at once, roll up his anti-brimstone rhapsodies, and go out of the lecturing business. Dr. BARON can drop on his knees before his Synod and promise never to deny Old Nick again.

And those dear old souls who go to heaven direct from their death beds want to lay in a supply of asbestos clothing and alum-steeped masks, unless they wish to have a posthumous revelation made about them that will be anything but comforting to those who mourn their loss.

Eminent medical authority is now quoted in approval of football as a form of exercise, but it is barely possible that the eminent medical authority has an eye to business in encouraging the rising generation to cultivate the tackle and the flying wedge.

Do you know what Christmas is? Unless there is hidden away in the corner of your heart some dismal memory of the day you do not—that is, you cannot fully appreciate the measure of its brightness and joy.

It takes one who has sat in sorrow of the heart or in the grim despair of destruction on some Christmas of his or her life to know what the cheerfulness of the day means to the child or adult doomed to pass through it without participation in the general enjoyment.

If the little ones of the tenements who would suppose to be led last Christmas Eve and again went to bed supperless on Christmas night could write and tell you how miserable they felt, while all the world around them was abuzz with the joyful glow of the festival, do you not think their simple words would sink into your hearts and their tears would burn their way to your pockets and cause you to feel that it was your Christian duty to do your best to prevent a recurrence of that misery?

Of course they would. Their little letters would fill your eyes with mist and your throats with a dry choking sensation, and you would feel guilty in your own sight of having been in some degree the cause of the suffering they revealed to you.

Imagine that you are reading one of these tenement-letters—that it tells you of a cold fireplace, an empty cupboard, a bare table, hungry little stomachs and breaking hearts of gloom and wretchedness and deep despair—imagine that you can see small hand-streched out for help and round little curl-framed faces shadowed with disappointment—then recall your own black Christmas and how you felt when you were left toyless, candleless, supperless, and if you do not join the friends and supporters and enthusiasts of the Christmas Tree-Fund, you are not human and your soul has the consistency of a block of ice.

There cannot be many people of this kind in New York or in the world.

Give to the Christmas Tree-Fund and enroll yourself as one of the grand army of Santa Claus whose cheerful duty it is to banish gloom from the great Christmas festival and increase the crop of joy, so that every heart in the land, no matter how poor it is, may have its share of Christmas.

A straight vest is adapted on the bodice; the fronts loose and open from the shoulders are adorned with large revers of velvet forming round collar on the back. Close-fitting sleeve of velvet, the top part very wide forms three puffed sleeves adapted over the close-fitting sleeve. Philadelphian's Female Physicians.

The women physicians of Philadelphia are credited with receiving very large incomes for their services. Some average $10,000 a year, others $20,000.

Lemon Juice vs. Vinegar.

Lemon juice is far more refreshing and healthful than vinegar in preparing cold-salads; and it is the same with sliced tomatoes. The tomatoes ripe and sliced, with salt between and fairly drenched in lemon juice, make a most delicious relish. Very hot water—about half a cup—win the juice of a lemon and a little of salt added will prove a new and agreeable substitute for cold-salads and lemonade. When Winter is fairly with us, the glass stands away from the stove, and the glass stands away from the stove, and the glass stands away from the stove.

Manipulation of Sweetbreads.

Clean and parboil one pair of sweetbreads, and then throw them into cold water for a half hour. Remove the fat and skin and cover them with fresh boiling water; add a teaspoonful of salt and simmer gently for twenty minutes. When done stand away to cool. When cold cut into thin slices. Wash and dry the tender leaves from one head of lettuce. Rub the bottom of a soup dish with onion and make in it nearly a half-pint of mayonnaise. Place a thin slice of onion in the center of your salad dish, arrange the lettuce leaves around it; mix the sweetbreads carefully with the mayonnaise and put in the center of the dish. Serve. This is a delicious salad, and if prepared as directed will have only the faintest suspicion of onion. Tarragon vinegar added to the mayonnaise is a great improvement.

Sofa or Chair-Roll.

A pretty sofa or chair-roll seen the other day was made of three fine hemstitched handkerchiefs, put together in the lace insertion, the pattern of the lace being picked out in heliotrope wash silk. The gathered ends were first lace-trimmed, forming when gathered a frilled rosette, and with heliotrope ribbons, the whole drawn on over a roll of silk covered with heliotrope silk.

Artistic as Well as Useful.

The round-topped trunk has gone out of fashion, for the reason, the manufacturer tells us, that the trunk has so often to be part of the furniture of the room. The flat-topped trunk may have an expensive or rich cover laid over the top, with a cushion beneath, and make an ornamental if somewhat elevated seat. The front and sides of the trunk may be hidden by a valance attached to the cushion. It is not desired for a seat, a trunk that is not too large may be made to look like the treasure chest of a prince by fitting to it a covering of dark velvet, ornamented with bands of light-colored leather, applied with gold, copper and silver threads.

Boston Brown Bread.

One cup of yellow granulated cornmeal, one cup of fine granulated wheat or Graham meal, one cup of Yankee rye, one teaspoon of soda and one of salt, three-quarters of a cup of molasses and two cups of sour milk.

Mix the dry ingredients and meal together, stirring in the salt and soda. Mix the molasses and milk together in a separate bowl, then turn into the dry material, working until no lumps of four remain. The bread should be baked in a well-greased tin, set in boiling water and steamed for three hours at least. By tying down the cover of the tin it may be lifted by the handle more readily from the boiling water.

Relish for Roast Duck.

As a relish for roast duck or game, orange salad is good. Slice six orange for eight persons. Grate the rind of one, and add the juice of one lemon, three tablespoonfuls of salad oil or melted butter with a pinch of cayenne pepper, and pour this over the oranges. Salads should be eaten more than they are, and lettuce and celery are quieting to the nerves, and so tend to induce sleep; they are therefore healthful as well as appetizing.

Remains a Woman's Footprint.

A Mantion, Mich., young woman received a letter from a Kansas man the other day, in which he devoted seven pages in telling of business, crops and politics. In a postscript he mentioned the fact that he would like to have her marry him.

Famous Pearl.

The most curious among famous pearls is that which, three centuries ago, the French traveler, Tavernier, sold to the Shah of Persia for $750,000. It is still in the possession of the sovereign of Persia. Another Eastern potentate owns a pearl of 12½ carats, which is quite transparent. It is to be had for the sum of $200,000. Princess Yousouf has an oriental pearl which is unique for the beauty of its color. In 1890 this pearl was sold by Georgibus of Calais, to Philip IV. of Spain at the price of 80,000 ducats. Today it is valued at $225,000. Pope Leo XIII. owns a pearl lent to him by his predecessor on the throne of St. Peter, which is worth $100,000, and the chain of thirty-two pearls, owned by the Empress Frederick is estimated at $175,000.
